February Total Now At 18.3 Inches

Latest Snow Should Leave Soon

Calloway County's latest taste of winter was expected to begin disappearing today as above-freezing temperatures were forecast to push through the state.

Local residents awoke to a ground-cover of 2.2 inches of snow Sunday morning. The winter storm dumped up to eight inches in various parts of the state Saturday night and Sunday morning. The latest snowstorm pushed Murray's total snowfall for the month of February to 18.3 inches, according to John Ed Scott, who collects local weather data for the National Weather Service.

All the 2-8 inches of snow should melt by Tuesday, when the mercury may climb into the 40s, according to National Weather Service forecaster Russ Conger in Louisville.

Two snow-packed storm systems gave much of central and eastern Kentucky its heaviest snowfall of the year Sunday, closing more than 40 school systems today and covering the ground with snow in all but the western tip of the state.

Both the Murray Independent and Calloway County School Systems were in operation today but the Calloway system began classes an hour later than normal.

The snow forced the cancellation of a concert in Frankfort to benefit victims of the December flooding. The concert, starring Loretta Lynn, was postponed until sometime in April.

State police said early today that one lane had been cleared on most interstates, but the majority of Kentucky's roads remained snow-covered and hazardous.

No weather-related traffic fatalities were reported, but less minor accidents were frequent. In Jefferson County, police said there were 52 accidents Sunday; Louisville police reported 98.

A storm which moved into Kentucky early Sunday morning was followed by another Sunday night which swooped down from Minnesota before heading into the northeast. Flurries continued across eastern Kentucky early today. The southeastern part of the state received the heaviest amount of snow, with London reporting 8 1/2 inches. State police dispatchers in eastern Kentucky said roads were particularly difficult there.

Western Kentucky was the only part of the state to escape much of the snow. In Princeton, 2 1/2 inches was reported while Paducah had only an inch.

Three to 5 inches was reported throughout much of central Kentucky. Temperatures so far in February have been at least 10 degrees colder than normal, Conger said, and the long-range outlook calls for continued below-normal readings.

The long-range outlook also calls for lower-than-normal precipitation, Conger said. Sunday's precipitation in Louisville pushed the total amount of snow this winter over 18 inches, the average amount the city receives in a winter.

Hubbard Confirms His Support For MSU Arena

Rumors that U. S. Rep. Carroll Hubbard, a candidate for Kentucky governor, would support the construction of a new sports arena at Murray State University if elected were confirmed this morning in a telephone conversation with The Murray Ledger & Times.

According to sources close to the university, Hubbard, who attended Saturday's Murray State-Middle Tennessee State basketball game, made the commitment to university officials while in Murray this weekend.

"I am committed, if elected governor, to move on the project," Hubbard told a reporter for this newspaper. "During the first week I am in office, I will appoint an architect for the purpose of designing a beautiful, new, spacious fieldhouse or arena for MSU," Hubbard said.

Hubbard said if he is elected governor of Kentucky he will include funds for the new fieldhouse in the governor's budget to be presented to the 1980 Kentucky General Assembly.

Hubbard said he envisioned a 12,500 seat sports arena for MSU.

While here Saturday, the congressman said, he discussed the project with Murray State University president Dr. Constantine Curris, athletic director Johnny Reagan, basketball coach Ron Greene, assistant basketball coaches Steve Newton and Mike Dill, Dr. Dick Stout, a long-time MSU athletic booster, and several other individuals.

Hubbard said he committed himself to the project to each of those individuals while he was here Saturday.

Gov. Julian Carroll announced in April of 1978 that he had authorized the state secretary of finance to begin the planning for such a facility on the MSU campus. But until recently, very little more has been said about the project.

Gov. Carroll has indicated within the last two weeks that budget cuts and the postponement of $82 million in capital construction projects by the special session of the Kentucky General Assembly will not affect the proposed new fieldhouse.

"I've discussed the project with the chairman of the Council on Higher Education and he has assured me he will support it and see that it is approved at the next council meeting," Carroll said during the last week of the special session.

The governor said he would prepare a budget recommendation for the next governor which would include recommendations for funding the complex.

Attorney General To Fight Bell Rate Hike

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Within 24 hours of South Central Bell Telephone Co.'s application for its fourth major rate increase in as many years, Kentucky's chief legal and consumer protection officer had decided to fight the proposed rate hike.

Attorney General Robert F. Stephens said Saturday his office will intervene in the company's request for a 15 percent, $44.6 million rate increase, filed with the state Public Service Commission Friday.

"No question about it," said Stephens. "The fact that it's the fourth rate increase request since I've been attorney general plus the fact that the requested raise is considerably higher than the President's anti-inflation guidelines is more than sufficient reason for us to intervene."

Stephens said he planned to use some of the additional $150,000 appropriated by the recent special session of the Legislature for hiring expert witnesses in the South Central Bell case.

"This is what we wanted the money for, not for more lawyers. This will enable us to hire well-qualified economists and engineers and the like to assist us in an evaluation of (the telephone company's) rate increase," he said.

"We intend to do a thorough and fair job and present all our objections to the PSC," the attorney general added.

South Central Bell's proposed rate hike would add anywhere $2.43 to $3.61 per month to the basic residential charge. Basic business service would increase by a range of $6.08 to $10.43 per month, according to the company's estimates.

South Central Bell conceded in a statement Friday that it did not expect the PSC to grant the entire rate request immediately because it did not meet the Carter Administration's voluntary wage-price guidelines.

Top Kentucky School In Tourney

CCHS Team Ranks High

The Calloway County High School speech team placed highest of Kentucky high schools at the Western Kentucky University High School Invitational Speech Tournament in Bowling Green this weekend.

Clarksville (Tenn.) High placed first in individual events with 114 points, Calloway was second with 58 points and Bullitt Central was third with 44 points.

Ten local students placed in the tournament. They were: Kim Weatherford and Chuck Williams, first in original oratory and extemporaneous speaking; Marcia Cunningham, second in prose; Lesa Hoke and Mike Jackson, fourth in dramatic interpretation and original oratory; Danny Lamb and Earl Brown, fifth in extemporaneous speaking and storytelling; and Micky Hutson, sixth in storytelling.

Chris Taylor and Dale Finney, the Calloway debate team, received an award for quarter finals in the debate competition. They had a 3-2 record.

Going...Going...Sold To Highest Bidder

Story And Photos By Debbie N. Lee

Auction Gives Last Look At Old Murray Hospital

Some came to buy a hospital bed, others a wheelchair, but most people just came for one last look at the old Murray Hospital, at the corner of Eighth and Poplar Streets, when an auction was held Saturday of the hospital's contents and structural items.

The hospital, which was founded in 1920 by Dr. William Herbert Mason and known as the William Mason Memorial Hospital until 1947, had been used as a convalescent care unit since the new Murray-Calloway County Hospital was built in 1964.

On Oct. 23 of last year, all the long-term care patients were moved into the new second floor unit of the northwest wing of the hospital. All of the doctors' offices which had been located in the old hospital since the Houston-McDevitt Clinic burned Oct. 18, 1976, were moved last week into the new Medical Arts Building adjacent to the hospital.

It was a typical auction with bidders furiously waving their arms and following the auctioneer herdlike from one hospital room to another. One man laughingly observed that bedpans were going for $8 apiece.

Several people at the auction remarked that it was a shame to see this Murray landmark torn down, however, most seemed to feel that the building had indeed outlived its usefulness.

Stuart Poston, hospital administrator, said today that the auction, which began at 10 a.m. and continued until 4 p.m., was a success. Bob (Frosty) Miller and Terry Shoemaker were the auctioneers.

Razing of the old structure will begin within the next month to make way for phase two of the hospital construction project. The building of the one-floor northeast addition, which will include a new surgery suite, new x-ray rooms and expansion of the current emergency room, comprises this construction phase.

Murray Couple Is Married 25 Years

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Henley

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Henley, presently residing at Fox Meadows Trailer Court, Murray, are today observing their 25th wedding anniversary. They were married on this date in 1954 at Corinth, Miss.

Mrs. Henley, the former Eva Mohler, is the daughter of Curt Mohler and Ruthie Treas Mohler. Mr. Henley, the foster son of the late Jeff and Effie Henley, is a professor of chemistry at Murray State University and is the mayor of the city of Murray. Mrs. Henley is owner and operator of House of Thousands and is manager of Fox Meadows and Coach Estates Trailer Parks.

Their children are Sonny Henley and Stanley Henley, both serving with the United States Navy in Rota, Spain; Stuart Henley at home; Steven Henley, student at Murray Middle School; and Shane Henley, student at Carter Elementary School.

No formal celebration is planned.

She Can't Bank On Her Memory

DEAR ABBY: I'm sitting here with a terrible headache and an upset stomach because I can't remember where I put my money, and a payment is due today at the bank!

I'm only 35, but my memory is so bad I'm ashamed of myself. Four years ago I hid some jewelry before going out one night. I still haven't found it.

I order things and forget to pick them up. I forget to make phone calls. I forget where I park my car. But I remember petty things like an argument I had with my husband 10 years ago. So why can't I remember everyday things?

Writing notes to myself doesn't help. I forget where I put the notes.

I've thought about going to the local mental health clinic, but I have a friend who works there and I'd just die if she found out how dumb I am.

Are there others like myself? What do they do about it?

FORGETFUL FRAN

DEAR FRAN: There are MANY like yourself. The wise ones get professional help, which is what you should do. Call your mental health clinic for an appointment. Your friend who works there will respect you for recognizing a problem and seeking a solution. That's smart—not dumb. Make that call now—before you forget. And good luck.

DEAR ABBY: I've been married 12 years and my biggest complaint is the same one I've had ever since I was a bride. My husband "surprises" me with unexpected dinner guests. He doesn't even call to give me a few minutes notice. He just walks in with a friend or two at mealtime, and says, "Don't go to any extra trouble, honey, they'll eat whatever we have." I could wring his neck!

Sometimes I have skimpy leftovers, only enough for our family.

Naturally, I'm stuck. I have to be a good scout, but I wish I knew how to cure him of his thoughtlessness. Any ideas?

HATES SURPRISES

DEAR HATES: If your husband has been "surprising" you with "unexpected" company for 12 years, it's time you expected it. Stop being a "good scout" and start being a "Girl Scout." (Be prepared!)

DEAR ABBY: There is a girl in one of my classes who is really neat, but she has one bad fault that turns me off. She uses dirty language. I'm no goody-goody, but she shocks me. She's great-looking and bright, too, but what a disappointment when she starts to talk!

When will girls learn? Guys sometimes use rough language among themselves, but no fellow likes to hear words like that coming out of a girl's mouth.

How about a few words of wisdom on the subject from you, Abby?

TURNED OFF IN ALTOONA

DEAR TURNED OFF: You've said it, and you've said it well.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "CURIOUS IN GARDEN CITY, N.Y.": The average couple spends 10 to 16 minutes in the sex act. The oxygen used during this time is equivalent to walking (briskly) at the rate of 2 to 2½ miles per hour. Or climbing two flights of stairs.

HEALTH

No harm in vinegar

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB: Please tell me if vinegar is harmful to a person. I like to use a lot of it on my food and my husband has been told it isn't good for a person to use very much of it.

DEAR READER: If you listened long enough, you could hear everything. Some people write and tell me that vinegar is great for their health. The truth is, it's neither helpful nor harmful. The main ingredient in vinegar is acetic acid. This basic organic chemical is connected to an enzyme to form one of the major chemical compounds used in metabolism within the cell, so I wouldn't worry about vinegar.

Of course, vinegar is acid. If you happen to have an acid stomach or acidity problems, it might not be so good for you. The truth is, the amount of acid in vinegar is insignificant compared to the amount of acid produced by the normal stomach. Your stomach produces hydrochloric acid, which is a strong acid. Whereas acetic acid in vinegar is a very weak acid.

Then people seem to forget that there is such a thing as digestion. When we swallow something, it doesn't necessarily go into the bloodstream. If so, we'd have some mighty peculiar looking blood, filled with hamburger, mustard, vinegar, etc.

Regardless of the wide variety of the foods you eat, it is all broken down into a few basic compounds that pass through the intestinal wall and into the bloodstream. Foods don't get through the intestinal wall unless they have been digested down to the basic building blocks. Vinegar is digested. Its acidity is neutralized by the alkaline juices from the pancreas and the intestinal wall itself. So, let your taste tell you how much vinegar you want to use, if any.

To give you a better understanding of how all that food you eat is broken down before it even gets into your bloodstream, I am sending you The Health Letter number 12-4, Your Digestion: Processing Your Food. Others who want this issue can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB: I had a hysterectomy when I was only 25. The surgeon left in both ovaries so I am still forming eggs.

Is someone working on uterus transplants? Is there hope for me? I am and was then single. Of course, it induced a great deal of emotional and psychological trauma for me.

DEAR READER: Although you didn't say why you had a hysterectomy, I am certain that as a young, single woman it was indeed a traumatic event.

There isn't any significant effort being made to transplant a uterus. To avoid rejection, the immune system usually needs to be suppressed. That leads to complications not compatible with pregnancy.

Considering the strides that have been made in animal reproduction, it is plausible that a woman could have an ovum removed at the time of ovulation, have it fertilized in a test tube and implanted in another woman's uterus. That doesn't mean I'm advising you to search out such a situation, as I wouldn't be very optimistic about having that done either. Technically, it could be possible.

Food Stamp Applications On Increase

FRANKFORT, Ky. — Following a major change in food stamp procedures, new applications for the coupons rose substantially in Kentucky in January compared to the previous month, a Department for Human Resources survey reveals.

Gail Huecker, commissioner of the department's Bureau for Social Insurance, said new applications increased 71 percent in the sample of 30 counties.

Huecker said the figures suggest that the recent change in the federal program will result in a significant increase in food stamp usage. As of Jan. 1, food stamp recipients are no longer required to purchase a certain amount of coupons each month to get the additional "bonus" stamps which help boost purchasing power. Now, only the "bonus" stamps are given to recipients, at no cost.

The 30 counties were chosen to reflect each region of the state. The increase in new applications ranged from 27 percent in Todd County to 295 percent in McCracken County.

New applications in December totaled 6,504 in the sample. In January, the figure was 11,135.

DR. DURWOOD BEATTY illustrates points in his talk on "Lawns and Their Care" at the meeting held by the Garden Department of the Murray Woman's Club.

Dr. Beatty Speaks At Garden Club Meeting

Dr. Durwood Beatty, professor in the Agriculture Department of Murray State University, was guest speaker at the meeting of the Garden Department of the Murray Woman's Club held Thursday, Feb. 1, at the club house.

Introduced by department chairman Effie Vaughn, Dr. Beatty gave a most interesting discussion on lawns and their care.

Many helpful suggestions were given on the types of grasses best suited to this area of the state by Dr. Beatty who also explained various herbicides and their uses in controlling weeds and undesirable grasses in well kept lawns. He also discussed the advantages of fertilizing in spring and fall.

Another nice thought he brought up was that dandelions and crab grass should be given a little more respect. These undesirables provide a nice green lawn for those people who have neither the time nor inclination that is so necessary for a picture book turf, Dr. Beatty said.

During the business meeting the spring card party was discussed. It was noted that a conflict in the use of the club house would necessitate a change in the date. It was rescheduled for March 28. The department chairman asked for volunteers to work on the various committees for the card party.

The thought for the day was given by Mary Wells.

Hostesses who served refreshments following the meeting were: Clover Cotham, Dot Byrn, Nell Farris, Barbara Stacey, Hontas Houston, and Mary Ragsdale.

Frances Drake
FOR TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 20, 1979

What kind of day will tomorrow be? To find out what the stars say, read the forecast given for your birth Sign.

ARIES
(Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) ♈
A work or health situation has you seriously worried.

Advice from another only adds to your concern. Remain unafraid — look to the future.

TAURUS
(Apr. 20 to May 20) ♉
You may be somewhat glum about a romantic situation. A loved one may back off from a social affair. Try to see both sides.

GEMINI

(May 21 to June 20) ♊

Opposition from a parent or superior has you concerned. In turn, partnership affairs may suffer. Listen to what others are trying to tell you.

CANCER

(June 21 to July 22) ♋

No sense butting your head against a brick wall. Try not to find solutions to all your problems when the prevailing mood is one of stalemate.

LEO

(July 23 to Aug. 22) ♌

A serious discussion about finances may indicate that indeed it's now time for revamping spending habits and reviewing accounts.

VIRGO

(Aug. 23 to Sept. 22) ♍

You may feel unappreciated now, but it could be that your expression on your face works against receiving the very affection you need.

LIBRA

(Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) ♎

Curb a tendency to look on the dark side now. Just because answers aren't readily available, it doesn't mean that solutions won't be eventually found.

SCORPIO

(Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) ♏

Money seems to be the root of all evil on this day when both friends and lovers seem intricately involved in your financial set-up.

SAGITTARIUS

(Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) ♐

You'll make little headway trying to solve a domestic or career concern, but you will have a clearer conception of the issues at stake.

CAPRICORN

(Dec. 22 to Jan. 19) ♑

Solving matters in private won't work now. Talking things out won't solve everything, but at least it will contribute to peace of mind.

AQUARIUS

(Jan. 20 to Feb. 18) ♒

Your reluctance to speak about a private matter concerning finances may contribute to dissension with a friend or loved one.

PISCES

(Feb. 19 to Mar. 20) ♓

A friend or associate may not go along with a career plan. You'll have to discuss the matter with them before you'll obtain their cooperation.

YOU BORN TODAY work well in partnership and function best in an atmosphere of harmony, though at times you can be somewhat dictatorial. Typical of your sign, you are poetical, musical, and mystical by nature. Your temperament inclines you to the arts or professions rather than business.

Our Diet Not As Bad As Some Say

Even though many Americans are living on a higher fat diet, the incidence of heart disease has dropped dramatically in the last 25 years. Cancer deaths also have shown slight decline, if lung cancer is not counted.

Researchers point out that a whole series of diet-related diseases such as pellagra, goiter, rickets and scurvy have been eliminated over the years.

Advice on what to eat comes from all sides, these days, but the strongest signals comes from the stomach. When it demands a hamburger and chips, it's hard to say no.

So let's hope the most recent declaration by the "experts" is correct. Despite junk food, Americans are showing some intelligence in their diets and are not as unhealthy as some would like us to believe.

Word comes from the annual meeting in Houston of the American Association for the Advancement of Science that the American diet is not as bad as doomsayers describe.

A survey recently of 2,000 families showed that "on the average the children had adequate intakes of all nutrients."

Inside Report

By Rowland Evans and Robert Novak

Church: 'Rogue Elephant'

WASHINGTON — While anticipating that Sen. Frank Church of Idaho might prove nettlesome as the new chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, administration officials are in temporary shock over the stunning speed of his attacks on Carter policies — particularly officials with short memories.

For President Carter, this spells serious trouble. It will tend to open further the gap between the executive and the legislature, dangerously widened by the post-Vietnam congressional claims to make foreign policy.

Considering Church's past, his conduct during his one month as committee chairman should not be all that surprising. "Look," one of Church's Senate colleagues told us, "he did a 180-degree flipflop on Taiwan when he read the mail from back home. But has the White House forgotten that he did a similar switch on planes for Saudi Arabia?"

The Taiwan "flipflop" was particularly irksome to the White House. For two years, Church had quietly been passing the Carter administration for quick normalization with Communist China. Not once in all that time did White House or State Department officials recall him expressing concern for the fate of the Nationalist regime on Taiwan.

That was before the mail arrived on his desk from Idaho, where he will run for a fifth Senate term next year. After that, chairman Church issued a statement calling Carter to task for having "failed to obtain from the Peking government a commitment" not to reunify Taiwan and China by force.

That may be par for Church's course. He importuned one member of his committee last year to support U.S. sale of F-14 aircraft to Saudi Arabia. On the next morning, he stunned that colleague by voting against the plane deal, which was bitterly opposed by Israel.

As chairman of the committee that used to be the most prestigious in Congress, Church has drawn heavy national attention for his Feb. 1 speech attacking Carter's failure to pressure Saudi Arabia to end its "resistance" to the Egyptian-Israeli peace package. Again, the only officials surprised by that attack on the nation which is the chief supplier for foreign oil to the U.S. are those with short memories.

Church has been jokingly called the "senator from Israel" in Senate cloakrooms. His 1976 presidential campaign was lubricated with contributions from the American-Jewish community, and he clearly looks to similar contributors to help with a potentially difficult reelection campaign next year.

Playing ethnic politics with foreign policy is common in the Senate. What concerns the Carter administration is that chairman Church is showing no tendency to change his ways under the challenge of new responsibilities at a time of great danger abroad for this country.

Three times in the past six weeks Secretary of State Cyrus Vance has consulted with Church, hoping to cement a partnership that might smooth Carter's foreign policy problems with Congress. This has become an urgent need with Sen. Howard Baker of Tennessee, the Republican leader, trumpeting the end of bipartisanship on the new strategic arms treaty. In those three talks between Vance and Church, the senator did not once attack Saudi Arabia as he did in his Feb. 1 speech to B'nai B'rith. In fact, he did not even mention the Saudis to Vance.

Carter, Vance and national security adviser Zbigniew Brzezinski had hoped that Church would restore the committee chairmanship to the prestige it held over 20 years ago when headed by Georgia's Walter George. Since then, the chairman has either been a "processor," such as Church's predecessor, John Sparkman of Alabama, or a "preacher," such as Sparkman's predecessor, J. William Fulbright of Arkansas.

Church's first few weeks have been closer to Fulbright's than Sparkman's. But unlike Fulbright, Church has managed not only to anger administration officials but also to alienate committee colleagues.

His direction of the committee clearly points to his own ascendancy at the probable expense of subcommittees. Both Democrats and Republicans on the East Asian and Pacific affairs subcommittee were angered when Church hired a top staff assistant to handle that subcommittee before clearing it with subcommittee members, including Ohio's Sen. John Glenn, the chairman, and North Carolina's Sen. Jesse Helms, the ranking Republican.

Church long ago gained a reputation as a Senate rough rider. Months before he ended his probe of the Central Intelligence Agency, he told reporters the CIA had been operating "like a rogue elephant rampaging out of control." But in his own report issued April 8, 1976, no charge was made that the CIA was unresponsive to presidential direction. The House Intelligence Committee's report specifically refuted the charge.

Carter, Vance and some of Church's colleagues worry that it is Frank Church who is becoming the "rogue elephant rampaging out of control." Considering the record of his one-month chairmanship, such worry is justifiable.

Funny, Funny World

The local minister journeyed out to visit a very lazy member of his rural congregation. When he arrived, he noticed the sorry state of the man's farm. "George," said the minister, "those are mighty poor looking crops you have there."

"I'm afraid they are, Preacher," George agreed.

"Well, what happened to them?"

"I guess it was his way," the farmer explained. "I left the work to God, and God left it to me, and between us, we sort of ruined the crops."

A western rancher requested the district superintendent to assign a pastor to his community.

"Well, how big a man do you want?" the superintendent asked.

"Oh," replied the rancher, "we're not too particular, but when he's on his knees, we'd like to have him reach heaven."

Looking Back

10 Years Ago

Gordon Lee Vance, son of Mrs. Odelle Vance of Murray, received his helicopter wings in a special ceremony at Fort Rucker, Ala., on Feb. 11.

Deaths reported include Mason Evans, 64.

HEARTLINE

Heartline is a service for senior citizens. Its purpose is to answer questions and solve problems — fast. If you have a question or a problem not answered in these columns, write Heartline, 114 East Dayton Street, West Alexandria, Ohio 45381. You will receive a prompt reply, but you must include a stamped, self-addressed envelope. The most useful replies will be printed in this column.

HEARTLINE: I am going to be 65 this year but plan to continue working for several more years. I know that by not taking my Social Security Retirement now and continuing to work, I will be earning delayed retirement credits. However, I have received conflicting information about how much of an increase this will add to my benefits. One source said my benefits will be increased 1 percent per year for each year I work without drawing benefits. Another source said I would earn 3 percent per year under a new law recently passed. Would you please tell me which is correct and also something about this new law. — H.E.

Your Social Security benefits will be increased one-twelfth of 1 percent for each month that you continue working and do not receive benefits after you turn age 65 (up to age 72). In other words, your benefit would be increased 1 percent for each year you work beyond age 65 (up to age 72) without drawing retirement benefits.

Under H.R. 9346, passed in December 1977, the delayed retirement credit would be increased for persons attaining age 62 during or after 1979. These persons would earn 3 percent per year (¼ of 1 percent per month) for each year of working without drawing benefits between age 65 and 72. However, since workers reaching age 62 in 1979 will not reach age 65 until 1982, this provision has relatively no effect until 1983.

The reason a person cannot earn delayed retirement credits beyond age 72 is because at that age a person can have unlimited earnings and still draw their Social Security benefits. This age for unlimited earning will be lowered to age 70 in January, 1982, thereby lowering the number of years in which a person may earn delayed retirement credits. Persons who will be reaching age 70 during or after 1982 can only earn delayed retirement credits between the ages of 65 and 70.

HEARTLINE: I just became covered by Medicare this month. I have talked with several friends about sending in claims. Seems that most of them send in their claims near the end of each year. If I were to do that, I'd probably lose half of the receipts before I got around to filing the claim. What do you think about this procedure? I think, personally, that I would be better off to send each claim in as I pay for a service. Do you agree? — D.V.

It is much better to send claims in promptly after you have $60 in covered expenses. If more evidence is needed, everyone's memory is better for recent events. Also, this avoids end of year workloads which cannot help but delay claims processing. It also will keep you from having a lot of work to do at the end of each year, since every claim should be attached to its own claim form. If you have several claims for the year, this could add up to quite a bit of writing.

Also, since you are new to the Medicare program, we suggest that you learn as much as possible about this type of insurance. You can pick up a copy of the government issue Medicare handbook at any Social Security office. We also offer a book which contains much more information and is easier to understand. To order Heartline's Guide to Medicare, send $1.75 to Heartline, 114 East Dayton St., West Alexandria, Ohio 45381. Please allow 6 weeks for delivery.

HEARTLINE: I am rated 30 percent disabled by the VA for a service-connected disability. I understand that I can now draw additional money for my dependents. How can I get these additional benefits started? — T.H.

The percentage of disability for entitlement to dependency benefits was reduced to 30 percent by PL 95-479. If you have not already filed a claim for this benefit on the application form sent to all potentially eligible beneficiaries early in December, you should obtain VA Form 21-686C, complete it and submit it to your VA regional office.

Letter To The Editor

Love For Animals

Dear Editor:

My husband and I have had two very dear poodles killed on our road in the last four years. No one has ever bothered to stop to see if the suffering animal is still alive: or to even get it off the road. No one has ever bothered to tell us of the accident or how sorry they are.

I have run over two large dogs in my lifetime. I stopped each time to get the animal off the road and to make sure the owner got it to a veterinarian. On both occasions the animals survived. My husband has run over our neighbor's dog twice (it chases cars). Each time he took the dog to our veterinarian and it cost us $20 the first time. The dog survived each time.

I wish more people had compassion, love and respect for animals as we do. They are God's gift to man.

Mr. & Mrs. Jack Wallis

No Breaks... Middle Tennessee Bumps Racers To 3-21, 1-9

By TONY WILSON
Sports Editor

The intensity was there. So was the enthusiasm. And the crowd...oh, it was definitely there.

Just one element wasn't present: "Breaks," said Murray State coach Ron Greene. "We just couldn't get the roll there at the end. That's been the story all season."

Especially Saturday afternoon in the Sports Arena, as the Racers dropped a 69-67 Ohio Valley Conference decision to Middle Tennessee before a regional television audience and a shaker-waving crowd estimated at 5,300.

While Murray was playing on pride and sheer determination to win, Middle Tennessee had an added incentive: one of the four OVC tournament berths. The Blue Raiders upped their overall mark to 14-10 and league slate to 5-5 to stay within one-half game of fourth-place Morehead, which blasted Tennessee Tech 100-79.

Murray fell to 3-21 overall and 1-9 in the OVC while suffering its eighth straight setback, but it took a flurry under the Racers basket with less than 10 seconds left to decide the contest.

Kenney Hammonds' 10-footer off the glass and a subsequent Racer steal pulled Murray within 69-67 and gave it the ball with 25 seconds left. Tom Leffler, who grabbed the loose ball, alertly called a timeout after being trapped by Blue Raiders in the corner.

Murray killed 15 seconds off the clock before guard Tom Adams' 15-footer rolled off the rim. Barry Snow grabbed the errant shot and forced one up of his own. It, too, trickled away, and a jump-ball tip won by Middle assured the crucial conference triumph.

"The difference in the game was the fact that we had our starters in at the end and Murray didn't," said Middle Tennessee coach Jimmy Earle.

Indeed. When Keith Oglesby drew his fifth personal foul with 4:49 left and the score tied at 63-all, that put two starters — he and Randall — and another Racer who played an important role, on the bench for good.

Randall and Allen Mann, who grabbed nine rebounds, had fouled out minutes earlier.

It's been a long season...long and frustrating," said Randall, who, like Leffler, played his final home game as a Racer.

"I thought I missed getting my fifth foul (with 8:37 left)," Randall said. "But I guess I didn't."

"We couldn't match up with them late," said Greene, who ordered a deliberate offense by his team when Murray grabbed a 61-56 advantage with 6:47 left. "There's not much else we could have done with a 6-2 or 6-3 guy guarding Joyner."

Greg Joyner, a 6-7 senior averaging 20.8 points a contest, finished with a game-high 22 points, one better than Hammonds' 21. Joyner had scored a season-high 31 points against Murray in an 84-71 Middle triumph earlier this season.

"Our coaches warned us that Murray could slow the ball down good," Joyner said. "And they did a good job of it. Some seasons the breaks just don't come for a team."

"If we tie with Morehead, we've got the tournament spot," he said. Middle has already beaten Morehead twice, and a tie between the two would assure the berth to the Blue Raiders.

"But we can't wain around for that to happen," said Joyner. "We've got to win them all." Middle has only league games with Austin Peay and Western Kentucky, both at home, remaining.

"We were able to hold the ball like we wanted to very well," Greene said. "We just couldn't get the layup to bolster our lead."

Murray faces Western Kentucky in Bowling Green tonight, then wraps up its season Saturday against Austin Peay in Clarksville.

Tonight's 7:30 p.m. contest will be broadcast locally over WNBS radio.

Tom Adams' 15-footer (right) in the late seconds came close, but it wasn't enough to stop Greg Joyner (55) and his Middle Tennessee teammates from dropping Murray State 69-67 Saturday in the Sports Arena. The Racers take on Western Kentucky in Bowling Green tonight.

Mel Purcell Gives U.S. Title With 6-1, 6-4 Victory

By the Associated Press
HAMBURG, West Germany

Mel Purcell clinched the men's team tennis title for the U.S. men Sunday in the tennis competition here for players under age 21 by beating Sweden's Hakan Johansson 6-1, 6-4.

But the Swedish women scored a major upset in defeating the defending champion America women 3-2.

Purcell gave the Americans — leading 2-0 going into Sunday's play — an unbeatable 3-1 lead. The U.S. men then took the doubles for a 4-1 victory.

Sweden's Jan Gunnarsson, a brilliant 16-year-old, beat 19-year-old Robert Van't Hof of Los Angeles 7-6, 6-4 to put the pressure on Purcell.

But the American had an easy time with Johansson except for a brief spell at the start of the second set, when the first four games went against service.

Van't Hof lost the first set in a tiebreaker 11-9 and Gunnarsson, the best prospect to emerge from the week-long tournament, went on to take the second set and the match.

Van't Hof and Tim Mayotte of Boston beat Johansson and Gunnarsson 6-1, 6-4 in the doubles.

The teams began women's competition Sunday tied 1-1. Sweden's Lena Jacobsson, 17, then beat Mary Lou Piatek, the U.S. national junior indoor champion from Whiting, Ind. 6-4, 2-6, 7-5.

Linda Siegal of Piedmont, Calif. the U.S. open junior champion, evened the score again by beating Lena Sandin 6-1, 6-2.

In the decisive doubles,

Sandin and Jacobsson lost the first set but then edged through the last two to win 4-6, 7-5, 7-5 and give Sweden its first team title in the seven-year history of the unofficial world team champions for players under 21.

The tourney formally is called the BP Cup.

U.S. women's Captain Gayle Godwin said, "We expected to win both singles. But when it got really tight, we played a couple of loose games and that was that. But don't worry, we'll be back next year and then we'll kill them."

Men's Captain Bill Graves said, "I'm delighted. Everyone played so well. This is the fifth team I've brought a team over here and we've won it four times and been runners-up once. But this is definitely the best team I've ever had."

Lietzke's Fortunes Rise With Victory In Garagiola Open

By BOB GREEN
AP Golf Writer

TUCSON, Ariz. — Bruce Lietzke pulled his billfold from a hip pocket and extracted a slip of paper.

"I went out to dinner with some friends last night," he said. "Went to a Chinese restaurant. This was in my fortune cookie. I carried it all day."

He read the fortune: "Courage is your greatest present need."

It was prophetic.

At that time, Saturday night, Lietzke was leading the Joe Garagiola-Tucson Open Golf Tournament by two strokes. He had 18 holes to play. He also had a painful tear in a stomach muscle that restricted his swing. He was considering dropping out.

But, displaying the courage the cookie said he needed, Lietzke played Sunday. And he played well enough to card a two-under-par 68 that gave him a two-stroke triumph and a $45,000 first prize.

"There was pain," he admitted. "It was very present all day. I had to use a half-swing with the driver and the long irons. Fortunately, this short course doesn't require many long irons."

Lietzke said it was the fourth time he had suffered such an injury "and I withdrew most of the other times."

The 27-year-old cross-handed putter reached the par 5 third — the only par 5 hole on the 6,708-yard Randolph Municipal course — with a three-iron second shot and holed a 25-foot eagle putt. And he followed with a string of 15 consecutive pars.

It was good enough to frustrate any challengers. Lietzke, who took the lead with an opening round 63, never trailed and never was tied.

He finished at 265, 15 strokes under par. It was his fourth victory in five years on the PGA tour. He won his first title with an 80-foot birdie putt in a sudden-death playoff in the 1977 Tucson Open.

Tom Watson, last year's winner and holder of the 1977-78 Player of the Year titles, was one of three tied for second. It was the second time this year Watson has been a runner-up.

Watson shot a 68 for 267 and a tie with rookie Jim Thorpe and Buddy Gardner, each of whom was recording his career-high finish. Gardner shot a 65, Thorpe a 68.

Veteran Frank Beard, who has been within sight of the $1 million mark in career earnings for more than three years, finally made it. He won $2,600 for a tie for 21st and became the 19th player to go past the $1 million figure.

No More Scandals Though Coaches Worried, Bee Says Corruption In Basketball Is Out

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent

College basketball is booming again — on a spinning high reminiscent of the heady post-World War II years' before the gambling scandals of 1951 and the early 1960s punctured the balloon.

Madison Square Garden, under the astute showman Sonny Werblin, is resurrecting — slowly but methodically — the doubleheader format created by Ned Irish. Competition is intense. Fan interest is spiraling. Gambling is flourishing. Money changers are in the temple.

Is the dark spectre of the 1950s and 1960s riding again?

Bobby Knight, coach of 1976 NCAA champion Indiana University, is worried and outraged.

"There's too much easy money," Knight warned recently. "There are savory characters around. I don't think coaches are concerned enough. We could be headed for what happened in the 1950s."

He called attention to the plethora of gambling sheets and point spreads on the market and added: "Every time I see a point spread in a newspaper, it offends me."

Coach Digger Phelps, whose Notre Dame team played in the Garden last Thursday night, acknowledged there always was a threat of outside influences, but said he did not feel endangered.

"Possibly it's because of the type of athlete we get at Notre Dame," he said. "Ninety-nine percent of them go on to get their degree. However, as a safety measure, we have the FBI come in periodically and warn the players of the perils and consequences."

Phelps, who coached at Fordham before going to Notre Dame in 1971, said he would like to see New York regain its position as "the mecca of basketball."

Clair Bee, now 83, once a coaching institution at Long Island University, looked back on those old days and said he was certain the gambling scandals never would be repeated.

"Certainly not on the same scale," said the venerable master who compiled an 82 percent winning record. "The players are different today — more aware and mature. The coaches are more careful. In my day, we were all innocents. The scandal hit us like a thunderbolt."

In 1951, 33 players from national champion CCNY and six other schools were caught up in the "fix" scandals. A decade later, 47 players from 27 colleges were snared in a high stakes bribery web that shattered careers and sent several offenders to jail.

"Most of the kids were street kids, out of the ghetto," Bee said. "Many didn't have money to get to school. You can imagine how easy it was to tempt them. They didn't have to lose the games, just beat the spread. It didn't seem all that wrong to them at the time."

"Today, players come from better homes, have better food. The tragedy of the old scandals is still fresh in their minds."

Outmanned, But Happy

Cornell Pleased With Racers' 3rd-Place Finish In Ohio Valley Conference Indoor Track Meet

MURFREESBORO, Tenn.

Murray State track coach Bill Cornell predicted his Racer squad would score 116 points in last weekend's Ohio Valley Conference championships. They scored 117.

"I thought that would be enough to win it," said Cornell. "But we were just outmanned. In particular, by only Middle Tennessee and Western Kentucky as Murray finished third in the indoor OVC meet."

Middle amassed 127.5 points, followed by Western (122), Murray, Eastern Kentucky (73), Morehead (46.5), Austin Peay (36) and Tennessee Tech (5).

Murray won more events (7) than any other team, and Cornell was happy. "I couldn't expect any more of my team than they gave."

Jerry Odlin, in winning the three-mile run, set a school and conference record with a 13:26 time. That mark is the best time for a collegian in the nation this year and qualifies him for the national championships in the event.

The distance medley relay team — David Warren, Marshall Crawley, David Rafferty, Richard Charleston — won the event in 9:49.2, the fourth best time in the nation this year. It, too, qualified for the nationals.

Warren also won the mile run in a Murray State-record time of 4:03.3, making him eligible for the NCAA's.

Charleston's victory in the 2 mile in 8:42.0 qualified as the sixth best time in the nation this year, a school record and earned him a spot in the nationals.

Other winners for Murray were Axel Leitmayr in the high jump (6-11), Mitch Johnston in the 880-yard run (1:54.2) and the two-mile relay team.

Give 'em a shot in the arm.

Children can still get such serious preventable childhood diseases as polio, measles, whooping cough, lockjaw and mumps. Yet, many children have not been getting the shots they need to be protected from them.

What about your children? Have they had all their shots? If not, or if you're not sure, check with your doctor. Letting your kids go unprotected is an unnecessary risk of their health.

At Blue Cross and Blue Shield and Delta Dental of Kentucky, we're concerned about rising health care costs. That's why we're working with consumers, doctors and hospitals to find ways to hold these costs down.

You can help by taking care of yourself. Staying healthy is the best kind of health care—and the least expensive.

Lice Become A Major Livestock Problem During Winter Months

Lice are a major winter insect problem for livestock, says Chris Christensen, Extension entomologist with the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

"Lice don't cause many problems in the summer," he says, explaining that lice seem to be sensitive to light and heat. However, lice populations build up in the winter when hair coats thicken and skin becomes dry and scaly, according to Christensen.

Late January, February and March is the period to watch for infestation since populations usually build up to sufficient size to cause irritation, he advises.

Christensen points out that heavy lice populations not only irritate cattle, but also can cause blood problems, such as anemia. As a result, animals may become more susceptible to disease and pregnant animals more susceptible to anemic abortions.

In addition, lice infestation often reduces the vigor of livestock, causes a loss in milk production and less efficient feed utilization.

Christensen describes two types of lice that infest livestock. One is the chewing and biting type which feeds on bits of skin, hair, debris on livestock and raw flesh around wounds. These fast-moving pests cause considerable irritation, but usually don't inflict heavy economic damage.

The other type is the sucking lice which have piercing mouth parts. Slate gray in color, these lice often are found in colonies that may look like patches of dirt or manure on the animal.

The lifecycles of the sucking and chewing lice are such that damage is compounded as their numbers increase, according to Christensen. Louse eggs are attached to the hair, young lice hatch and they feed in the same manner as adults, he explains.

"Lice infested animals do a lot of rubbing and scratching," says Christensen. If this activity is noticed, he suggests the farmer examine the animals closely, looking behind the ears (inside the ears for hogs); around the muzzle, brisket and tail head, and around the udder in dairy animals.

If heavy infestations are found, the animals should be treated to control the lice, advises Christensen.

Several insecticides for controlling lice are available, with water-based insecticide sprays being the most commonly used. "It is important to completely wet down the animal for good coverage and kill," Christensen says, adding the use of water-based sprays is not advisable in frigid weather.

Dusts also are used in controlling lice, although they may be inconvenient for use on larger livestock. So, Christensen suggests the use of dust bags to keep lice populations at a manageable level.

Another more convenient way of controlling lice on beef cattle and hogs is with pour-on insecticides. Christensen stresses the importance of establishing the weight of the animal to be treated and using only the amount of insecticide recommended for that size animal.

When treating livestock for lice infestation, he emphasizes the need to treat the entire herd to prevent reinfestation of the herd. "If some can't be treated, separate the animals until they can be," advises Christensen.

It is possible to completely eliminate lice if animals are treated again after two or three weeks, according to the entomologist. The first treatment takes care of mobile lice, and the second treatment, made after eggs are hatched but before they mature, eliminates the young lice (nymphs).

Reinfestation can occur when new animals enter the herd or if a herd comes in contact with a neighboring herd, notes Christensen.

He says animals on a good plane of nutrition usually show fewer effects of lice, whereas, cattle or hogs on a maintenance diet are more easily affected by lice.

Studies conducted in Arizona indicate heavily infested animals on a poor diet lose twice as much weight as those not infested, according to Christensen.

Synthetic Mulch Can Improve Yield And Help Repel Insects

BELTSVILLE, Md. — To mulch or not to mulch. That is the question of many small-acreage farmers trying to decide whether to use synthetic mulches, which have been in use by owners of large vegetable farms for several years. Yield data from studies done by researchers of the USDA's Science and Education Administration may help them decide.

Horticulturist Allan K. Stoner and his colleagues at the Beltsville Agricultural Research Center in Maryland compared several commercially available mulches with no mulch to obtain information useful to those who have not yet tried the synthetic material.

Average yields were higher and vegetables were usually larger from experimental plots covered with mulch than from the uncovered plots, and some crops were harvested earlier from the mulched plots. All of the mulches tested reduced the number of aphids infesting plants. And, since all the mulches tested were opaque, they prevented weed growth around the vegetables.

The studies were carried out over a 2-year period. During the 1977 growing season

Area Extension Advisory Panel Will Meet March 5 In Mayfield

By Jean Cloar
UK Extension Agent
The purchase Area

Extension Advisory Council meeting March 5 in Mayfield will reflect the needs and concerns of the people in the eight county area.

A review of the progress on programs recommended for 1978 will be given for Agriculture, Home Economics, 4-H, and Community Development.

Each county in the state has an Extension Advisory Council which approves plans made by the four program areas as their plan of work each year. From the county council, four delegates, one from each program area, serve on the Area Extension Council on a rotating basis. This group makes recommendations covering on-going programs, expanded programs, and new programs for each program area.

Purchase area council members include Mrs. Arlie Scott, Calloway County, president; Lowell Palmer, Calloway County vice-president; Mrs. Francis Childress, Ballard County, and Algene Goatley, Graves County, state delegates; Mrs. Gladys Medley, Marshall County, secretary.

Each area has two delegates serving on the State Extension Advisory Council. Purchase Area delegates are Mrs. Frances Childress of Ballard County and Algene Goatley of Graves County.

A Consumer Tip from Extension Specialists at the UK College of Agriculture

When you buy frozen meat or poultry, make sure it is "hard as a rock," say food specialists with the Cooperative Extension Service of UK's College of Agriculture. Some deterioration and loss of quality may have already begun in a half frozen package.

Producers Concerned About Accurate Grades

LEXINGTON, Ky. — To meet growing concern about fire-cured tobacco grading and price reporting accuracy, Assistant Secretary of Agriculture P. R. Smith at Washington, D. C., has directed regional tobacco director Paul T. Donovan of Lexington to visit tobacco auctions in Kentucky and Tennessee and personally oversee grading operations when sales resume.

Smith said Donovan also will be available to discuss problem areas with fire-cured tobacco producers on the auction floors.

The action will help reassure farmers that grading is uniform and consistent with the official standards for this type of tobacco, Smith said.

Sales of type 23 (Kentucky) tobacco began at Murray Jan. 17, but actions were halted after a few hours as farmers rejected all bids.

Partial sales were also held at Mayfield Jan. 18 with a large number of rejections. Opening day sales of type 22 (Kentucky and Tennessee) on Jan. 22 followed the same pattern of partial sales and growers rejecting most bids. Sales were suspended Jan. 29 because of light volume.

Leaf Quota Ballots Are In The Mail

Bob Bergland, Secretary of Agriculture, has proclaimed National Marketing quotas for the 1979, 1980, and 1981 crops of fire-cured and dark air-cured tobacco and has called for a referendum by mail ballot during the period of February 20 through 23, 1979, to determine whether quotas will be in effect for these tobacco.

Ballots have been mailed to all eligible producers to vote in the 1979 Tobacco Quotas Referenda. Producers are reminded to vote and return ballots to the county ASCS office by February 23, 1979, according to David E. Riley, County Executive Director.

FOOD STAMP BOOZE

WHITESBURG, Ky. (AP) — State and local authorities have charged Paul Collins, the brother of Letcher County Judge-Executive Robert Collins, with illegal trafficking in food stamps in the sale of bootleg liquor.

A spokesman for the Letcher County sheriff's office said Collins, 54, was arrested at his home Friday night after he allegedly sold illegal liquor to two agents of the state Department of Justice and accepted food stamps as payment.

The investigation was headed by Sheriff Vernon Hall and state agents, authorities said.

Collins spent about 20 minutes in the county jail before posting a $1,500 cash bond, police said. The case is expected to be presented to the county grand jury Tuesday or Wednesday.

...NEWS IN BRIEF...

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP)

— Hanoi claimed today its forces have stopped all the Chinese invasion columns, killed more than 1,000 Chinese troops and destroyed almost 60 tanks.

With Asia's newest border war in its third day, Western intelligence sources in Bangkok said the Chinese have halted their offensive after driving only six miles or less into Vietnam and may be withdrawing some units. They said the Chinese objective was extremely limited, "to teach Vietnam a lesson."

NEW ORLEANS (AP)

— Striking police and city officials agreed to stop insulting each other and to resume negotiations today in an effort to save what is left of Carnival and Mardi Gras.

A return to private talks was agreed upon Sunday after Vincent Bruno, president of the Police Association of Louisiana, dared Mayor Ernest Morial to fire police strikers. He warned that would trigger sympathy strikes by garbage collectors and firemen.

WASHINGTON (AP)

— Clutching President Carter's arm, the widow of slain diplomat Adolph Dubs watched her husband's flag-draped casket carried from the plane that brought him home. A 19-gun salute boomed in the background.

Carter and Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance had warm praise for Dubs, the U.S. ambassador to Afghanistan, but cold condemnation for his killers Sunday in a brief ceremony at Andrews Air Force Base near here. Dubs, 58, was shot to death last week as police in Kabul, Afghanistan, stormed a hotel room where he had been taken by four terrorists who kidnapped him on his way to the U.S. Embassy.

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)

— Iran's new Islamic government ended all relations with Israel and pledged its support to the Palestinian war against the Jewish nation after a weekend meeting between Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini and Yasser Arafat of the Palestine Liberation Organization.

'Don Carlo' By Verdi To Be On WKMS-FM Feb. 24

Verdi's powerful and dramatic three-act opera, "Don Carlo," in a new uncut production, will be broadcast live from the Metropolitan Opera on WKMS-FM, the fine arts radio service of Murray State University, on Saturday, Feb. 24.

To begin at noon, the program at 91.3 on the FM dial is another in the series of Texaco-Metropolitan Opera broadcasts scheduled on that network during 1978-79.

Singing principal roles will be soprano Renata Scott, mezzo-soprano Marilyn Horne, tenor Giuseppe Giacomini, baritone Sherrill Milnes, bass Nicolai Ghiaurov, and bass James Morris. James Levine will conduct.

Intermission features will include a musical and dramatic analysis of the opera and an opera quiz.
